reetings,

We would like to thank everyone that came out for Yule. With everyone's participation the event was fun and set up and tear down went fast. We would like to thank Baroness Clarice Roan for her service as our A&S champion and Reinaldr bjortappr for his service as our bardic champion. Congratulations to our new Champions, Amalie Reinhardt, bardic and Corwin Alexander Templeton, A&S. We would also like to congratulate those who received invitations to the final Rose Tourney at White Hart, Master Rian Gortyroyan and Lord Cuilean MacCannech, Baron Edward Harbinger and Lord Ruslan Voronov, Don Benedict Fergus atte Mede and Lord Fridrich Flußmüller, Pan Henryk Bogusz and Randall of Berwick. As our next event is Seven Deadlies please feel free to check in with the event steward, Baroness Jennet the Gentle and see what needs to be done. With all this being said and winter upon us please drive safe and stay warm.

In service,
Edward and Anastasie

Letter from the Chronicler

Greetings Delftwood!

There were no submissions for the Delftwood Marketplace, however, there were plenty for the Help Wanted Section. ----->

If you need help for an upcoming event, or a project that you are working on, please send it in and i'll post it here next month

Have you seen Delftwood's new website? Amalie has done a great job! She's currently in the process of getting the populace's profiles on the website - don't forget to fill yours out!

Thank you to everyone who sent in pictures for month's Full Tilt. Keep them coming!

Alsatian Yule (Dec. 1st 2012)

Delftwood Baronial Court Report

Being the Report of the Court of Their Excellencies, Edward Harbinger and Anastasie de Lamoure, by the grace of the Crown Ninth Baron and Baroness of Delftwood, held at An Alsatian Yule in Their Barony of Delftwood on the 1st day of December A.S. 47. Baroness Olivia d'Anjou reporting herald, assisted by Reinaldr bjórtappr.

Their Excellencies first called forward the youth attending the event. They asked if the children had fun that day. The children were quiet at first, but with encouragement, cried joyfully they had indeed had fun at Yule. Satisfied the children's enthusiasm, Their Excellencies gave cookies to them and thanked them for attending.

Their Excellencies called to Their presence those who were attending their first event. Two gentles came forward. Their Excellencies were glad to see new faces and presented them with tokens in commemoration and encouraged them to continue their journey into the Society.

Their Excellencies requested the Event Steward, Meisterin Felicitas Flußmüllnerin, to attend Them. Their Excellencies thanked her for a wonderful event and making the hall feel like a home. They then offered her the chance to speak to the populace. Meisterin Felicity thanked her crew, those who had set-up, helped throughout the day, and of course those who would be staying to help clean-up afterwards. She thanked Lady Lisjbet and her staff for their wonderful efforts on the day-board. Meisterin Felicity was especially thankful to Lady Lisjbet for a stress-free, drama-free event collaboration.

Their Excellencies called forth Baroness Kateryne Bakestonden as Their choice for Overall Winner of the days Arts & Sciences competition and presented her with a prize.

Their Excellencies called forth Baroness Clarice Rowan as Their current Arts & Sciences Champion. They thanked her for her service and divested her of the regalia of the office.

Their Excellencies then summoned before Them, Lord Corwin Alexander Templeton. They found his bobbin lace to be exquisite and created him Their new Arts & Sciences Champion. They invested Lord Corwin with the regalia of the office and invited him to join Their court. Champion scroll calligraphy by Lady Helene al-Zarqa' and illumination by Amalie Reinhardt (her first scroll).

Their Excellencies called forth Meisterin Felicity Flußmüllnerin and Lord Fridrich Flußmüllner. Though Lord Fridrich could not be present, Their Excellencies presented Meisterin Felicity with a prize and declared the couple Overall Bardic Winners of the days Bardic Competition.

Their Excellencies requested the presence of Amalie Reinhardt and created her Their new Bardic Champion. Their Excellencies called forth Reinaldr bjórtappr, Their current Bardic Champion. They thanked him for his service divested him of the regalia of the office. Their Excellencies presented Amalie with the regalia and invited her to join Their court. Champion scroll calligraphy by Meisterin Felicity Flußmüllnerin and illuminated by Lady Maria Adriane of Delftwood.

Their Excellencies called upon Dragos Pelikanos to come before Them. As he kneeled, Their Excellencies invited the Guardians of the Windmill to stand. Their Excellencies were well pleased with Dragos and his work learning to fence as well as his efforts to become a warranted marshal. For these reasons, They did create him a member of the Millguard. Scroll by Baroness Clarice Roan.

Their Excellencies invited Margaret Grace into Their presence. As she came forth, They then invited the Companions of the Windmill to stand. They noted They had seen her for many years helping with event preparations, working on event set-up and clean-up, and helped to watch the children and all the time with a smile. They were so moved by her work, that Their Excellencies then created her a Companion of the Windmill. Scroll created with love by Meisterin Felicity Flußmüllnerin (Illumination) and Lord Fridrich Flußmüllner (Calligraphy).

There being no further business, this court of Their Excellencies was closed.

Alsatian Yule

(Dec. 1st 2012)

Greetings One and All...

First, we do have one item in the lost and found: a blue glass mug. If this is yours please contact me and I will get it back to you.

Thank you to Lady Lijsbet. She was a great team-mate in our quest for a stress-free, drama-free day. The food was timely and tasty throughout the day. To her and her stout-hearted crew I say "huzzah!"

Thank you to the setup and tear down crews:

Fridrich	Anastasia	Bran	Sybil
Margaret	Edward	Dilshjalmer	Cyneric
Finne	Guillaume	Rian	Failenn
Fergus	Genevieve	Jennet	House Frodelii

And thank you to the Barony for trusting me with your day. I had a great time and I hope you all did as well.

Looking forward to Seven Deadlies!
Meisterin Felicity

No feast runs smoothly without the help of many people, and this past weekend's Yule event is no exception. I was blessed with a remarkable staff, who worked tirelessly to make sure that everyone was fed, that the food was delicious, that it came out on time, and that the kitchen was clean when we were done. I beg a boon of the barony, to allow me to publicly thank them all by name, because they deserve your recognition as well.

Finne – who made sure I always had a clean kitchen to work in as I redacted, tested, and created the dishes used in the feast. Katerina – who worked by my side nearly every step of the way, and bravely took on the task of making the Yule log AND the Boar's Head sotelties even though she'd never made one before. Oeric – for agreeing to be my Second in the kitchen on event day, offering sage advice based on experience, and taking charge of the barley and lentil dish from start to finish. Caryl – for unlocking the secrets to perfect pie crust. Less like England, more like Australia. Helene – who, despite her crazy-busy mundane schedule was able to offer assistance whenever possible. Fergus – who, along with Helene, graciously took on the task of smoking the Zervelat sausage that was served. All 21 lbs. of it. Felicity, Fridrich, Margaret, Freya, and Frytz – who offered opinions and support with my redactions and processes.

Failenn – for generously donating the venison that was used in the stew, and for being a humungous help in the kitchen all day. Catalina – for being fearless when it came to taking on sugar paste, and for donating the "bonus venison" that was served with cameline sauce. Margarita – for sharing your artistic talents with us and creating the beautiful stag soteltie. Bonnie – for working all day in the kitchen, and being one of the last of the staff to leave the building at the end of the night. Aidan – for bringing his knives and carving the bear off the bone, and for spending part of his event in the kitchen. Svana – for being in my kitchen, ready to do almost anything to help. Freya, Bran, and Solveig – who peeled almost all of the parsnips used in the feast. And there were a lot. Auld, Felicity, Fridrich, Margaret, Jennet, Ellen, Caryl, Gyles, Alheydis, and everyone else who sang the boar's head into the hall. Cyneric and Sybil – for helping wash dishes after the event. Myskia and Maggie – for retrieving Their Majesty's dishes before every course so that we could fill them up again. Baron Edward, Monizcka, Marcus, Sybil, Clarice, Lanen, Aidan, and Amalie – who all donated bread for the event (I know there were more bread bakers, but my mind is blanking. Please remind me so that I can thank you properly!)

I am incredibly proud of the work we all put in to making this year's Yule event so successful, and I hope you will join me in expressing gratitude to the whole staff – both in the kitchen and the event hall – for making the day so wonderful, and putting Delftwood's very best forward. I am grateful to have been a part of it.

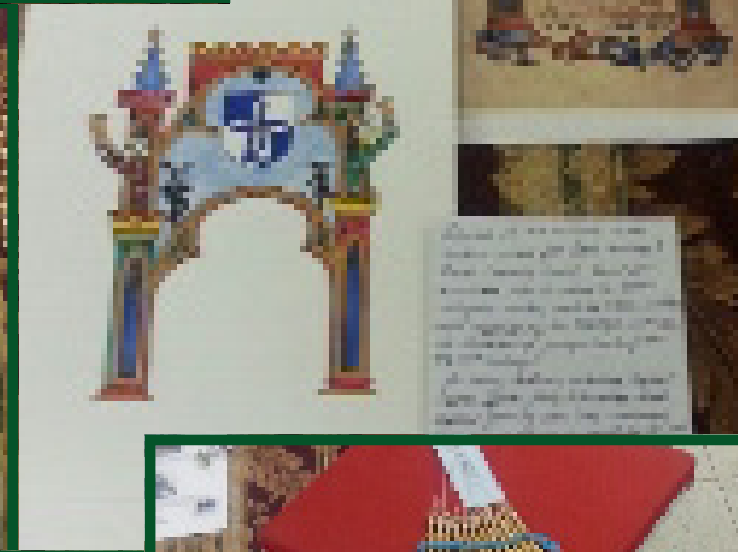

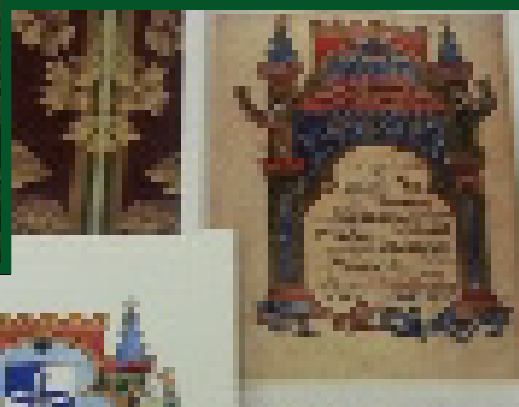

Yours in Service, Lijsbet

December Business Meeting Minutes

Respectfully submitted by Amalie Reinhardt

December 6, 2012

Meeting is opened by Sir Yngvar at 7:01PM.

Officer Reports

 Baron & Baroness - His Excellency Edward thanks all for attending Yule. He also thanks Baroness Clarice and Auld for their service as Champions and for Corwin and Amalie as serving as the new Champions. Now they are prepping for Seven Deadlies. "Stay safe. Have fun."

 Pursuivant - Alheydis is not present due to her work schedule. Yngvar says to submit to Alheydis often and that he submits to her too.

 Chronicler - Desi says the newsletter will be coming out in the next week. She would still like to do a delftwood classifieds section but has not received any submissions. She has received fantastic pics from Yule and would like some articles to match.

 Web Minister - Amalie has been working on the profile pages of the website. She has emailed all people she had pictures for from the previous photo shoot. She has model release forms giving permission to post personal photos on the website. Also, she has talked to Thorpe and Ljlsbet and another photo shoot will be scheduled on an A&S night sometime sooner than later (hopefully).

She will be posting the Court Report that was sent over the list within the next week to the site.

Lastly, she sent her report in (about 2 weeks late), which spurred the Kingdom Webminister to ask for reports from everyone else.

 Arts & Sciences - Ljlsbet doesn't have much to say.

December's Upcoming classes:

12/13 - Recipe redaction with Oeric

12/20 - Evaluating resources for research with Olivia

12/27 - Newcomer's night

Ljlsbet is looking for someone to teach a class on Jan 17 and is also looking for teachers for February. Please let her know if you are interested.

"Look at the stag!!" It survived the rest of the week and was made by Margarita and Catalina.

 Knight Marshal - Marcus says people are still fighting and is a good time. This month will have off at least one week due to Christmas. Please watch Facebook and the list to make sure practice is still on. Usually there is loaner gear available in Marcus' car.

Friedrich won the monthly tournament last night.

It is mentioned for all to use common sense for attending (non-cancelled) meetings and practices when there is inclement weather.

 Fencing Marshal - Helene says that fencing is still happening and that there will be a lot of fencing at Seven Deadlies. And that it's a good time to start practicing fencing before the event.

She is stepping down in February and no letters have been received, as of yet. Please send letters of interest to Helene, Yngvar, Ed & Anastasie.

Also, it is noted that Fredrich has not won anything lately in fencing... (Just sayin!)

 Thrown Weapons - Her Excellency Anastasie says, "Heck no. Too cold."

 Minister of Lists - Failenn is not present this evening. Yngvar reports that she ran the tournament last night and that she would like to step down in February. If you have interest, please send a letter to her, Yngvar, Edward & Anastasie.

If you have any questions, you can ask Failenn at fight practice.

 Archery - Michael says that archery is happening and has moved inside. Practice will be decided week-to-week (assumably due to weather). There is loaner gear available for interested people.

 Chancellor Minor - Sultana said seven children at participated in making ornaments at Yule. The kids loved playing in the big castle.

 Chatelaine - Desi says, "Hi," and that newcomers have been very participatory. There were newcomers at Yule. One helped in kitchen. Two others made the fabulous stag and were called into court by Their Majesties to recognize them for their efforts.

At the moment there is nothing planned for Newcomer's Night. Please bring questions (such as "What is Twelfth Night?"). Desi has loaner garb available. If there is interest, we can start garb making again in January. (Note: German is sneezed out by Felicity.)

 Historian - Oeric is not present. Yngvar imagines that history is still in a box somewhere.

 Chamberlain - Finnr is still working on returning of stuff to its proper place post-Yule and will submit an inventory report when it is done.

 Exchequer - Cyneric lists all income and payments in the previous month. Currently there is $2162.88 in the Barony's account, which includes six months of the storage shed and two years of web hosting fees.

The Baronial Yule event made $686.80.

 Seneschal - Yngvar made his December 1 report before December 1. He is planning to run for a term Seneschal of his own; however, if anyone else wishes to run, please send a letter to him and Their Excellencies.

Yngvar received a letter from Alheydis stating that she is stepping down as Deputy Seneschal as of February due to her work schedule. Please send a letter to Yngvar if you are interested in this position.

November Business Meeting Minutes cont'd

Events

 Follow-up: Baronial Yule at Sts Peter & Paul Bingo Hall on 12/1/12

Felicity is ecstatic as we made money! Their Majesties very pleased with how they were treated and how we did as a small Barony. The giant white box felt homey (with all the decorations). Felicity thanks all who helped setup and tear down the site and thanked all for helping make it a success. The food was definitely a big help with the game meats and thanks Lijsbet for cooking and Fred for finding the hunter.

Lijsbet says that if anyone is wants to use game meat in an upcoming feast, the guy in Parish may donate the meat (to a non-Profit) or sell it at a discounted rate.

Finnr asks the Barony to consider purchasing new roasting pans to replace the current ones -- seven in total and perhaps in a larger size. Options have not been explored as of this time, so Yngvar asks for Finn to do research. Desi offers to see what All in the Kitchen might have as well.

 Seven Deadly Sins/Baronial Investiture at St Sophia's on 02/02/13

Jennet mentions event is at the Same site as last year with the use of both kitchens, but none of the rooms downstairs. Sybil will be making lunch and Oeric will be cooking dinner. She requests help for the various parts of the event, including (but not limited to) parking, decorating, and moving things.

Other possibilities during the event include a masque, singing, and dancing. Basically, it will be a "big event with lots of stuff to do with fabulous people who do wonderful things." Jennet agrees that the castle should be at Yule as well.

ACCEPS online registration is being set up for Seven Deadlies. This information will be forthcoming.

Other Business

 Michael says we need to purchase indoor targets at 50 cents a piece and $25 should cover us for the winter.

A motion is made, and seconded, to spend $25 on targets. Motion passes.

 Marcus put in a bid for Tournament of the Windmill at the same site as last year. It is proposed to do this as a weekend event with camping/dorm space available.

The site would be $700 for entire weekend, which includes the dorm and area for camping, access to lake, three firepits, and the space for fighting. The site would open after work on Friday afternoon and would close on Sunday around 5 PM.

The event would be Roman history themed. Desi would cook Roman foods with an all-day Saturday side-board. Leftovers would be served Sunday morning. At this time it is not certain if there would be a more formal breakfast on Sunday. There will be a site-wide game for Latin vocabulary. There will also be many places where people can help.

Finnr asks for cooler weather.

 Yngvar mentions that Yule was the 22nd anniversary of his Viscounting.

 There is a possibility to do a demo on the Renaissance in June for Morgan Road Elementary. Desi asks to be contacted.

 Felicity will be doing something for Seven Deadlies - making two covers for the armor dump area, which will cover 4 tables (2 sets of 2 stacked tables).

A motion is made to spend $126.88 to cover the supplies. The motion is seconded and the motion passes.

 Desi asks if larger items in the storage shed are able to be used outside of an event. Finn answers yes, as long as he knows ahead of time to find the item/s.

As there is no more business, the meeting is closed by Sir Yngvar at 738PM.

Addendum: After the meeting, Jennet and Rian gave Cyneric twenty cents to round out the bank account

Good Khan Khalek

(To the tune of Good King Wincelas. Words by Megge Gormshuileach with assistance from She Who Would Not Be Named ;P Inspired by an Occurrence at Delftwood Yule)

Good Khan Kalek did step up
To the tilt field ribbon.
To the gentles gathered 'round
Spake he bold and even:
"Brightly shine these coins I hold,
To keep them would be cruel --
But you must win them from me,
Fight me in a duel!"

First stepped up a charming squire,
Lovely bold and spritely,
Striving to be seen to fight
In a way most knightly.
Two hits she placed on his helm,
Broad and bold and shining!
She earned her coin with prowess keen
Now in Valhalla dining.

Then there came a big bold lad,
His axe was long and swinging.
His aim was to hit the Khan
'Til royal ears were ringing.
Undaunted by this gifted soul
The Khan would prove much bolder,
He killed the man, took up his axe
And swung it o'er his shoulder!

Drawing out quicksilver blade,
The Khan challenged the fencers.
Each one then fell into line
To test royal defenses.
Each one stood and did his best
And each one earned his penny,
Until the Khan looked around
And found the list field empty.

Good Khan Kalek did step back
From the tilt field ribbon,
To the gentles gathered 'round
Spake these words in closing:
"Fairly fought and fairly won,
The coffers have been lightened.
By your courage, grace and skills
Our fair Kingdom's brightened!"

Lady Helene's Garden

By Lady Helene al-Zarqa'

December 2012: Winter Is Coming

"Women often did the kitchen gardening. They ran the kitchens, so it was up to them to chose what they wanted supplied to them, and they worked in their gardens when they were not helping their husbands and sons in the fields at seed and harvest time." (McLean, p. 218)

Obviously, winter is the off time for gardening. The gardening books I am reading spend a lot of time talking about planning and growing, but not about what happens in the winter. I chose the quote mostly because it shows that I'm the one who should be gardening rather than Fergus.

Back to the garden: The mild fall was very beneficial. Not only has the sage continued to grow, but most of the other herbs have continued. Only the basil and the marigolds have not survived the frosts. Even the parsley, green onions, and leeks are still bright green and hearty.

If the garden were more substantial, I should be storing onions and root vegetables to last through the winter months. Alas, I did not grow many onions or any root vegetables this year! I did, however, set aside clippings of the herbs to dry. Once the herbs were dried in the air, I removed the leaves and stored them in clearly-labeled glass jars.

The next step is to prepare the garden for winter and plan for the future. Right now, the plants are small enough that they will not split from a heavy snow.

Now is the time to experiment with less modernly-conventional herbs (marigold) and plan for expanding the garden next year.

See you next month!
Helene

The Feast of the Seven Deadly Sins and Baronnial Investiture

Saturday, February 2, 2013

A Day with the Borgias – a festival in Renaissance Italy at the cross of the 15th and 16th centuries, featuring Delftwood's 10th Baronnial Investiture.

Please join the Barony of Delftwood on Saturday, February 2, 2013 at St Sophia's Greek Orthodox Church, 325 Waring Road, Syracuse, NY 13224, as we celebrate the Investiture of Benedict Fergus atte Mede and Helene al-Zarqa' as the 10th Baron and Baroness of Delftwood, and ease their Excellencies Edward Harbinger and Anastasie de Lamoure to their retired rest. The site opens to the public at 9:00am, closes to the public at 9:00pm, and is discreetly damp. There will be a church service held at 6:00pm in the main church. Please be courteous to those attending the service who may wander through our event.

The Borgia family would like to invite you to a feast, celebrating the elevation of their father, Rodrigo, as he becomes Pope Alexander VII! We all know that there has been some contention with the election for Pope; however, the Borgia family knows exactly how to keep the peace — or at least silence poisonous tongues. Enjoy a final repast to end a lovely day! We're sure you're on the list, because you are an honored guest. But then again — it might not hurt bringing your own taste-tester...

Enjoy a full day of fencing under the watchful eye of Baron Rian Gortyroyan! Decorate your feast table or come costumed to represent your favorite Sin! Wear your most sumptuous Italian, or embrace Sloth, and get "one more event" out of that ratty old garb! Limited merchant space is available, please contact the event steward.

Your event steward for the day is Baroness Jennet the Gentle (Jennifer Green), 601 North Highland Ave, East Syracuse, NY 13057, jen[at]twcny.rr.com or 315-463-2035 before 10pm.

Please make checks payable to "SCA NY – Barony of Delftwood". Reservations should be sent to SCA Inc, Barony of Delftwood. PO Box 6694, Syracuse, NY 13217. Canadians please contact exchequer[at]Delftwood.org before sending fees – arrangements can be made for exchange.

Costs:

Site fee for the day is $12 for adults, $6 for children aged 6-14, and includes a midday antipasti repast prepared under the skilled attentions of Baroness Sibyl Cairnfalcon. For an additional $8 for adults, $4 for children aged 6-14, our guests are invited to enjoy a tantalizing and treacherous feast prepared by Baron Oeric Lestrangle. There is a cap of 88 seats for feast, PLEASE PRE-REGISTER for feast! A $5 non-member surcharge will be collected at the door from adult non-SCA members. Children 5 and under may attend free – but if a child will take up a seat at the feast table, please include that information with your reservation.
