Letter from the Baronage

Greetings Unto the Populace,

Last month was a full one! We would like to thank all who came out to A Shoote in the Wyldewood, and we would like to welcome our new champions chosen there, Lord Marcus, Lord Andreas, and Lord Vilhjálmr.

The demo at St. Marie Among the Iroquois was wet and muddy, but there was a great showing of Delftwoodians highlighting their skills, both martial and artistic.

We have new Royalty on the thrones and they (as well as us) are looking for award recommendations. If you know of anyone deserving of an award, please let us know, or use the online recommendation form ..or write one the old fashioned way, with pen and ink.

We would also like to thank Earl Yngvar and Countess Caryl for running a fund raising auction at our Wyldewood event and raising a significant sum for the purchase of new coronets for the Barony.

We will be heading down to Endless Hills to attend Crown Tourney and see who the next heirs to the throne will be, we hope to see you there.

As the weather is turning toward the reign of the Ice Dragon again and outdoor activities wind down, we hope all of you will stay safe and warm.

Yours In Service to the Dream
Edward and Anastasie

Letter from the Chronicler

Greetings!

This month's Out of the Box section features cover art and The Garb Garble from the Delftwood Wailer from October AS XXII (1987). Unfortunately, there was not a listing of Baronial Officers, but other articles included the alphabet of Middle Earth, French naming practices, Saints names, and a story entitled "A Man in Wolf's Clothing".

Thank you to everyone who has sent in articles and photos. Keep them coming!

In Service,

Desiderata Drake

St. Marie Demo Report

by Aleidis Lanen

Delftwood held a successful demo at Sainte Marie among the Iroquois September 24th and 25th 2011. We had an excellent turn out of visitors. The estimated number was 230 people which wasn't bad considering the perilous looking weather on Saturday. We had several sign up for email updates and hopefully a few newcomers will turn up in the coming weeks. The staff at Sainte Marie was very pleased with how everything went and welcomed us back for next year. They also offered a possibility for future events in trade for possible event locations.

The citizens of Delftwood rallied for an awesome turnout despite the mud soaked ground. There were two period pavilions, one of which was fully set up with rope bed, chairs, tables, and a chandelier. The other was set up as a personal storage location and shade area for the cooking demo as well as some A&S display things. We also had several period day shades to round out the look and showcase different styles of shelter. Demos included an on site blacksmith, beer making, cooking, fiber arts, stained glass, weapons, fencing, armor, archery, heavy fighting, an A&S display, period games, and a chatelaines tent to welcome people to the demo.

There are no injuries to report other than extremely muddy feet (and cars).

The banners flew high, the devices were out, and Delftwood proved once again what a wonderful place it is to live.

Newcomers Classes

All Newcomers classes are held on Thursdays from 7:00PM - 8:00PM at our Arts & Science Class location (see page 10). All Newcomers classes are free to attend, and no special garb (costumes) is required. Please email the Chatelaine (Desiderata Drake: chatelaine@delftwood.org) and let her know you are coming, so we have enough class handouts.

ATTEND AT LEAST 5 CLASSES, AND YOUR FIRST EVENT IS FREE!!

SCA 101: History and Etiquette

Thursday, October 20th

What is the SCA? An overview of the Society for Creative Anachronism, including the history of the group and basic rules of conduct within the SCA.

SCA 102: Introduction to European Dance

Thursday, October 27th

Dances were the primary places to socialize in the middle ages, and are great fun in the SCA. Come learn a few basic period dances both with and without partners.

SCA 103: Martial Arts in the SCA

Thursday, November 10th

An overview of the martial arts, as practiced in the SCA. Includes armored combat, fencing, thrown weapons, target archery and combat archery.

SCA 104: What Are They Wearing?

Thursday, November 17th

Roman, Viking, Elizabethan, Burgundian and many more styles of period clothing are worn in the SCA. Come see the differences between them, and learn how to make some basic "garb" (clothing) for your first event.

SCA 105: Business Meeting

Thursday, December 1st

There are 19 Officers that help ensure that our local Barony of Delftwood operates safely and smoothly. Come meet the Officers and learn about their different positions.

SCA 106: First Event Preparation

Thursday, December 8th

What do I need for my first event? What can I expect at my first event? What do I wear? This class will cover everything you need to know before attending your first Event.

SCA 107: What Are They Doing?

Thursday, December 15th

If it they did it in the Middle Ages, chances are that someone in the SCA is re-creating it. Come see some of the different Arts and Sciences that people in our Barony are involved in, including sewing, cooking, illumination, calligraphy, black smithing, glass working, leather working, arrow making, weaving and more!

A Shoote in the Wyldwoode

Court Report

The court report of Their Excellencies Edward and Anastasie, Ninth Baron and Baroness of Delftwood at the Shoote in the Wildwood on the 3rd and 4th Days of September, anno societatis 46, Lady Helene alZarqa' with the assistance of Countess Caryl Olesdattir.

Morning Court 3rd of September

Their Excellencies called before them Lady Áine inghean Riocaird and Sir Óláfr Þorvarðarson and spoke of their continued service to and presence in the Barony, despite having moved outside the Barony's borders. They then made Lady Aine and Sir Olafr honorary citizens of the Barony of Delftwood. Scroll by Lady Failenn ingen Chernaich.

Evening Court 3rd of September

Their Excellencies asked to see any gentle for whom this was their first event in the Society and bid them welcome to the Society.

All of the children present were then called forth. Their Excellencies noted that the children defended the Barony from a scourge of monsters and rehabilitated the monsters to make them friendly. Their Excellencies also noted that Gaelen was the youngest archer, and passed onto him the ancestral arrow given to the youngest archer each year at the Shoote in the Wildwood. They instructed him to bring the arrow back next year to pass it on.

Their Excellencies asked to see Vilhjálmr Eðvarðarson and noted that he was absent for a piece of Kingdom business at the Pennsic War, and was awarded arms in absentia. They then had the scroll read in court. Scroll by Muirgel ingen Gilla Comgaill.

The autocrat for the event, Baron Artemius Andreas Magnus, was invited into court. He thanked thanked all for coming and also gave thanks to the staff and all who helped that day.

Their Excellencies called before them Lord Marcus Claudius Cincinnatus, who noted there was a heavy weapons tournament that day. He announced the winner of the tournament to be Ragnar the Fierce. Scroll by Meisterin Felicitas Flußmüllnerin.

Their Excellencies called forth Lord

Michael Gladwyne, who announced that the victor of the day's archery tournament was Milhim ibn Rashid. Calligraphy and illumination by Corwin Alexander Templeton upon at text by Lady Helene al-Zarqa'

Lord Michael Gladwyne also announced that the Seven Pearls Archery Tournament was held and that the victor was Wolfgang Starcke from the Barony of the Rhyderich Hael. Calligraphy and wording by Lady Helene al-Zarqa'; illumination by Lady Verederosa dal Sol.

Their Excellencies asked to see Meisterin Felicitas Flußmüllnerin. She announced that there was an arts and sciences competition and that the winner was determined by populace choice to be Lady Reyni Hrefna. Calligraphy and wording by Lady Helene al-Zarqa'; illumination by Maria Ariadne.

Their Excellencies called forth Lord Edmund of Worchester and declared him to be the victor in the day's thrown weapons tournament. Scroll by Baroness Clarice Roan.

Dragos Pelikanos was called forth by Their Excellencies. They spoke of how he helped in kitchens, setting up, and taking photographs. They then inducted him into the Order of the Windmill. Calligraphy and illumination by Lady Helene al-Zarqa' upon a text by Don Benedict Fergus atte Mede.

Their Excellencies invited Dame T'svia bas Tamara V'Amberview into their court. Dame T'svia noted that there was a member of her household who had long been lost, but who had recently been found. She asked to see Lord Gwydeon ap Arden, and gave him tokens of her household so he would not be lost again. Their Excellencies then noted they had further business with Lord Gwydeon. They spoke of how he served as Baronial Heavy Weapons Champion and also learned the art fencing. They then inducted him into the order of the Guard of the Windmill. Scroll by Lady Verederosa dal Sol.

Countes Caryl Olesdatter was then invited into court by Their Excellencies. She announced that the combination of auction, silent auction, pick-a-prize raffle fundraisers raised $716.50 for the Barony's coffers.

Evening Court 4th of September

Their Excellencies called forth their current Heavy Weapons Champion, Gwydeon ap Arden, and asked if there was a tournament to determine his successor, which there was. They thanked him for his service and called forth Lord Marcus Claudius Cincinnatus, who named victor and Baronial Heavy Weapons Champion. Scroll by Meisterin Felicitas Flußmüllnerin.

Their Excellencies called forth their current Thrown Weapons Camp pion, Bran mac Dímáin, thanked him for his service and called forth the victor of the tournament to determine his successor. They called forth Lord Vilhjálmr Eðvarðarson and named him Baronial Thrown Weapons Champion. Scroll by Baroness Clarice Roan.

Their Excellencies called forth Aurelio de Baldasare, their current Baronial Archery Champion. They thanked him for his services and asked if there was a shoot to determine his successor. They then called forth Lord Andreas Schmidt and named him Baronial Archery Champion. Scroll drawn by Mistress Matilda Bosville de Bella Aqua, with painting, calligraphy and illumination by Thegn Oeric Lestrangle.

Their Excellencies noted they had further business with Aurelio de Baldasare. They spoke of his dedication to archery, particularly his service as their Archery Champion, and inducted him into the Order of the Guard of the Windmill. Scroll by Meisterin Felicitas Flußmüllnerin. There being no further business, court was closed.

Out of the Box

Don't worry, Delftwood history is still safely in a box, but some of it will be re-printed here each month as well.

Reprinted from the Delftwood Wailer, AS XXII (1987)

The Garb Garble

Subject: Rokar Wyndryder
Period: 10th century
Persona: Viking sea captain

My viking garb, which I am trying to assemble as periodically as possible, consists of a scarlet tunic underneath a leather overtunic, which is sleeveless, and studded with brass fittings. Then upper and lower leather armguards, also studded with brass, and an openfaced steel helm. Also black fur cloak and brown leather pants. Finally I am working on leather knee boots with black rawhide straps in a crisscross fashion. My ideas for this gear came, as well as my name, out of books by Isaac Asimov.
